Each company's shareholders of record at the close of business on August 27, 2007 will be mailed definitive proxy materials (including the joint proxy statement/prospectus) in connection with the proposed merger and will be entitled to vote at the special meeting of shareholders. The joint proxy statement/prospectus forms part of the registration statement filed on Form S-4 by Great Plains Energy that was declared effective by the Securities and Exchange Commission on August 27, 2007 and under which Great Plains Energy will issue shares of its common stock to Aquila shareholders in connection with the merger.

The approval of the shareholders of Aquila and Great Plains Energy is required to complete the proposed merger. The companies have also filed applications with various state and federal authorities (including the Federal Energy Regulatory Commission and the state public service commissions in Colorado, Iowa, Kansas, Missouri, and Nebraska) to obtain the regulatory approvals necessary to close the transaction.

Aquila and Great Plains Energy also announced that they have been advised by the Federal Trade Commission that it has granted early termination of the waiting period under the Hart-Scott-Rodino Antitrust Improvements Act of 1976, as amended ("HSR"), in connection with the proposed merger. The early termination of the waiting period became effective on August 27, 2007. Expiration or early termination of the HSR waiting period without action by either the Federal Trade Commission or the Department of Justice is a condition to completion of the proposed merger.

Based in Kansas City, Mo., Aquila owns electric power generation and operates electric and natural gas transmission and distribution networks serving approximately 900,000 customers in Colorado, Iowa, Kansas, Missouri and Nebraska. More information is available at www.aquila.com.
